

West Chester Film Festival, Inc.

A non-profit corporation

West Chester is a vibrant, historic town located in beautiful Chester County, Pennsylvania. We are experiencing a new level of excitement about the arts as people migrate here to be a part of a small town community. West Chester offers fine restaurants, beautiful art galleries and wonderful boutiques. There is just one thing missing in West Chester... a film theatre. In our thriving county seat, you can't see a movie – which is just one of the reasons that the West Chester Film Festival was born.

The mission of the West Chester Film Festival is to entertain, enlighten and educate the public through the presentation of global independent and innovative short film and interactive workshops by hosting an annual Short Film Festival. The WCFF's short term goal is to present a self-sustaining annual film festival. Our dream and long term goal is to permanently house our Festival in a Performing Arts Center or Theater in the Borough of West Chester, presenting independent film and giving a voice to up and coming artists.

Join us for the seventh West Chester Film Festival over the weekend of April 29-May 1, 2011. We will screen short films, up to 30 minutes in length submitted by independent filmmakers from around the world.

Submissions are juried by a panel of industry professionals, and winners chosen according to content, innovation, and technical execution. We anticipate attendance of 3,000 this year. We expect attendees of the WCFF to be people living within a 100 mile radius of West Chester, and of all ages. There will be a special youth film block, as well as several informative workshops by industry professionals throughout the week-end. Our 2011 budget is $50,000.

Please help us with your financial support and join the Board, volunteers and other supporters helping to nurture the film arts right here in West Chester!
